Description of service: Based on available information at the time of the proposed study, The University of Genève (UG) will use a developed approach to: (i) categorize the type of adaptive capacity process currently in progress in the country and (ii) identify specific gaps to promote adaptive management in the water sector to which Pilot Program for Climate resilience (PPCR) could contribute to close. Given that the Pilot Program for Climate resilience (PPCR) is still under implementation, the analysis will focus on the design elements of the program and the potential these could have to generate transformational change in the sector. The study will not however evaluate water insecurity among vulnerable populations given time and budget constraints.

The aforementioned selection process has been completed and the contract has been awarded as follows:
