

Biographies of the experts part of the Investigation Panel for the Request El Dorado Airport.

Sharon Flynn.

US citizen. Skilled in integrating social performance and community participation in project and business development. With global experience in extractives, construction, manufacturing, forestry and non-profit sectors, Sharon has led teams in community relations, government relations, stakeholder engagement, land acquisition, integrated social and environmental management, and business development. She is experienced in social investment, public-private partnerships, local workforce and enterprise development, and social auditing. Sharon has worked with Rio Tinto, Newmont Mining, Bechtel, GrupoNueva, and the non-governmental organizations Conservation International and The Nature Conservancy, among others. Sharon is an Industry Fellow with the Centre for Social Responsibility in Mining at the University of Queensland, Australia and the Principal of Artara Consulting in San Francisco, California.

She has a bachelor's degree in Language Studies and holds a Master's degree in International Affairs as well as different courses and certifications in auditing. She is fluent in English and Spanish; and is has knowledge of Mandarin Chinese and French.

Rodrigo E. Negrete Montes.

Colombian citizen. Advisor on environmental legislation with professional experience dedicated to the drafting and development of environmental public policies, the passing of environmental laws, especially those related to environmental licenses, environmental assessments, environmental management, protected areas, environmental sanction regimes, community participation mechanisms, biodiversity, strategic ecosystems, and environmental mining issues. He has served as a legal advisor to the United Nations Development Program (UNDP), Colombia's Office of the Comptroller (Contraloría General de la República), the Environmental Ministry, the Cundimarca Regional Autonomous Corporation (CAR), National Natural Parks of Colombia, the Environmental District Department of Bogotá, the International Union for Conservation of Nature (IUCN), and the Alexander von Humboldt's Biological Investigations Institute. He is the author of several publications and has also taught courses related to his area of expertise at different universities.

He is a lawyer and holds a Master's degree in Administrative Law. His native language is Spanish.